

Record breaking lesson

On Wednesday 23rd April girls from the Junior Department took part in a record breaking attempt as part of the 'The World's Biggest Lesson'. The event was organised by staff at the school to raise awareness of access to education for children around the world.

All girls in the Junior Department took place and the mass lesson took place in the school hall, with all girls being taught a lesson entitled Quality Education to End Exclusion simultaneously. Schools in 120 countries took part with all the schools teaching the same lesson at the same time at either 9am or 4pm.

More details of the record breaking attempt can be found on the Global Campaign for Education website, www.campaignforeducation.org
